Growth And Quality Hallmarks Of The Fawcett Years

The years since 1956, when Novice G. Fawcett became the eighth president of The Ohio State University, have brought wide-ranging and significant academic changes to the campus. More than a hundred thousand alumni who earned degrees during this period can take pride in having been participants in the growth which has made Ohio State a preeminent comprehensive university.

Perhaps unequaled in its impact during the "Fawcett Years" has been the growing acceptance of the state university—and Ohio State in particular—as the source of higher education for an increasingly larger share of our young people. Public universities now educate three-quarters of this country's college students.

As Ohio State's chief executive, Novice Fawcett

President and Mrs. Fawcett will be honored during today's half-time program. Since this will be the last game they will attend as president and first lady, the athletic department and others want to take this opportunity to thank them for their many contributions to intercollegiate athletics at The Ohio State University.

has presided over a campus whose student body has expanded annually by a number greater than the entire enrollment of many Ohio colleges. Ohio State's 50,000-plus today is more than double the 22,470 present when he took office.

Other developments have paralleled this growth. Most obvious is the physical expansion of the campus. A hundred major construction projects have provided the necessary classrooms, laboratories and residence halls. Among these, for example, are the entire North Dormitory Complex, Lincoln and Morrill Towers, four of the 13 planned University College structures, all of the University's Regional Campuses at Marion, Mansfield, Newark and Lima; a large construction program in the Medical Center; the Center for Tomorrow, Ohio State's new home for Continuing Education, Telecommunications, the Alumni Association and the Development Fund, the Wilce Student Health Center, Denney Hall, Cunz Hall of Languages and many others, plus major renovations of a number of buildings.

These pages of course can present only the slightest feelings of the momentum of the last 15 years. Writing of these days, the historian is likely to note that:

Ohio State's Master Plan to guide the future development of the campus was adopted during this

A typical commencement program in Ohio Stadium where approximately 5,000 students receive degrees every June.

Prexy Supports Athletic Program

No department of intercollegiate athletics could hope for greater support than the Ohio State University Athletic Department has received from President Fawcett over the past 15 years.

President Fawcett made it clear when he came to the university that he expected the department to be administered at the highest level and most assuredly within the rules established by the university, the Intercollegiate (Big Ten) Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

When President Fawcett retires in September 1972 the best wishes of this department will go with him. We will miss you, Prexy, and we will expect you and Mrs. Fawcett to be our guests at athletic events in the years ahead.

period. The University added the many modern facilities that now serve to aid teaching and learning on the campus—such as the Listening Center and the closed-circuit television system, extending the impact of quality teachers to thousands of students, and the radio and television networks, carrying instruction in several professional fields many miles beyond the campus borders.

University College was created as a “portal of entry” for all new students. A large-scale academic reorganization of the University brought establishment of six new colleges.

Volumes on hand at the University Libraries have increased in the last 15 years from 1.2 million to more than 2.5 million. The University’s annual operating budget of $250 million is some five times larger than a decade and a half ago.

President Fawcett has been recognized in both the state and the nation as a leader in higher education. At the same time, he has devoted much effort to personalizing a large institution through a series of administrative reorganizations to make the university’s structure more flexible and responsive.

The Division of Continuing Education and its home, the Center for Tomorrow on Olentangy River Rd., are campus developments in which Novice Fawcett takes much pride. Through these facilities, literally hundreds of thousands of adults are keeping abreast of progress in their chosen vocations by attending conferences, workshops and short courses.

President Fawcett also has been at the center of still another significant step in the academic advancement of Ohio State—a substantial gain in the numbers of endowed faculty chairs and named professorships. The University now has eight endowed chairs and 21 named professorships, created with the purpose of attracting outstanding faculty. Total endowment is now $30.5 million.

But the principal product of a University remains its graduates. One of the most remarkable facts of President Fawcett’s stewardship is that during his 15-year tenure, 101,000 degrees have been conferred—more than half of the 195,000 granted during the entire 101-year life span of the University.

And a personal note: these degrees were presented at 61 quarterly Commencement ceremonies—many in this stadium—since Novice Fawcett became president. He has been on hand to preside and to confer these degrees at each of these convocations except two, missing only once when abroad and once when ill.

President and Mrs. Fawcett watch the Ohio State-Iowa game in 1957 with then vice president of the United States Richard M. Nixon. Former Ohio governor and senator John W. Bricker is on Nixon’s left.

FRANCIS SCHMIDT HONORED POSTHUMOUSLY

Francis A. Schmidt, who helped to make college football the great game it is, has been honored by induction posthumously into the National Football Hall of Fame.

William Willis

teams won 37, lost 16 and tied one. His 1939 team won the Big Ten title and the '35 team tied for the championship.

While known particularly as an offensive coach, Schmidt also was a defensive expert. His 1937 team had only 23 points scored against it and registered six shutouts.

Other Hall of Famers from Ohio State have been late Coach John W. Wilce, Wesley E. Fesler, Charles W. (Chic) Harley, first Buckeye all-American, and Leslie Horvath, 1944 all-American and Heisman award winner. Fesler was a three-time all-American and former head coach of Ohio State, Pittsburgh and Minnesota.

William Willis of Columbus, an all-American in 1944 along with Horvath and a member of two Buckeye national championship teams, will be inducted into the Hall of Fame in New York Dec. 7.

Before coming to Ohio State, Mr. Schmidt coached at the University of Tulsa, University of Arkansas and Texas Christian University. He was a captain in the Infantry during World War I.

When Mr. Schmidt first came to Ohio State, someone asked him, "What about Michigan?" The coach replied that Michigan players put their pants on one leg at a time and that he did not fear the Wolverines. Ohio State then proceeded to win from Michigan the next four years by scores of 34-0, 38-0, 21-0 and 21-0.

When Mr. Schmidt left Ohio State in the spring of 1941 he had become a legend—a man loved by all his players, coaches, alumni and fans. Everyone was saying, "There'll never be another Francis Schmidt."

Francis Schmidt . . he never lost a friend

This Is Northwestern University

Northwestern University, Evanston Campus

With a heritage of an unbroken line of distinguished faculty, Northwestern is the home of some of the country's greatest minds and teachers. Many departments are considered among the best in the country in their disciplines.

The physical growth of Northwestern University is obvious to the most casual campus visitor. In 1964, the Evanston campus area was doubled by the J. Roscoe Miller Campus through land-fill into Lake Michigan. The new University Library, O. T. Hogan Biological Sciences Building, Frank C. Engelhart Graduate Residence Hall, Rebecca Crown Center (administration), Lindheimer Astronomical Research Center, heating plant, and Vogelback Computing Center, all recently completed, and the Communicative Disorders Center, Norris University Center, School of Education, Leverone Graduate School of Management Building, and undergraduate housing, all currently under construction, show Northwestern's dynamic expansion through its $180 million "First Plan for the Seventies." Still other improvements are in the planning stages. These major improvements will keep Northwestern abreast of its responsibilities and assure its leadership position among private institutions of higher learning.

This is Northwestern University: a University continually in pursuit of the highest order of excellence.

Northwestern Chancellor J. Roscoe Miller outlined his goals for higher education this way:

"A university must provide a challenge and an atmosphere for growth that stimulate originality and inquiry.

"A university must create conditions that encourage self-commitment to a lifelong development of talents and intelligence.

"A university must give students the basis on which to learn how to live, as well as give them the tools with which to make a living.

"A university must publish and preserve as Northwestern's motto suggests, 'Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest . . .,' objectively showing forth truth and honesty to society."

This is Northwestern University.

Snappy Uniforms Make Athletes Happy

Paul G. West has headed the equipment department since 1952. He will retire this year after 30 years with the university. For 10 years he was employed in the College of Medicine. John Bozick will succeed Mr. West.

Athletic equipment and uniforms constitute big business.

Ohio State University's football, baseball and lacrosse equipment is stored in the North Facility while basketball and indoor track suits are issued from St. John Arena. Outdoor track and soccer equipment is stored in the southeast tower of the stadium.

Those responsible for assignment, upkeep and storage of uniforms are Paul G. West, who has been with the department since 1952; John Bozick, Clarence Osborne and Clyde Malay. West and Bozick are on duty at the North Facility; Osborne is located in the Arena while Malay divides his time between the three places.

Football equipment includes helmets, shoulder, knee, hip and rib pads, thigh guards, shoes, jerseys, pants and socks. Baseball involves masks, bats, shin guards, chest protectors, balls, socks and batting gloves.

Available to lacrosse and soccer players are sticks, balls, pads, helmets and gloves. Track men are issued both practice and game gear.

Total value of Ohio State's athletic clothing and equipment is estimated at $95,755.00.

John Bozick inspects an Ohio State baseball shirt before placing it in a glass-covered rack.

Marathon is proud to sponsor some of the most exciting athletic events in the country. Like Notre Dame football and Indiana and Kentucky basketball. And the minor league hockey action of the Toledo Hornets, Flint Generals, Ft. Wayne Komets and Dayton Gems.

We're heavy in the majors, too, bringing the Detroit fans the play-by-play of their Lions, Pistons, and Red Wings; the Cincinnati fans their Reds, Royals and Bengals; and in Indiana we bring you the Indiana Pacers.

Not to mention non-team events. Like auto racing, the UGA Golf Tournament and ski reports.

We'd like to see you get out and support your favorite teams often. But when you can't, catch the action on radio or TV. Brought to you by one of the best sports in your neighborhood — your local Marathon

As a Matter of Fact...

(Some interesting facts about Ohio State, presented by the Alumni Association)

■ Ohio State has been playing football since 1890, and has been a member of the Big Ten since 1913. The Buckeyes have been Conference champs 15 times and have won the national football crown four times, and last season shared possession of the MacArthur Bowl with Texas.

■ Ohio State has gone to the Rose Bowl six times, more than any other Big Ten team, and has won four games (1950, 1955, 1958 and 1969) in Pasadena. They lost the first time in 1921.

■ The Buckeyes have played arch-rivals Michigan 67 times, more than they've played anyone else. The series stands at 25 wins for Ohio State and 38 for Michigan, with four ties. Twenty-one of Michigan's victories came before 1935.

■ Ohio State's official alumni organization, The Ohio State University Association, is the second largest dues-paying alumni association in the nation, and the largest such organization in the Big Ten, with some 50,000 members.

■ Ohio Stadium, built through private donations by some 13,000 alumni and friends, was completed in 1922—after only 13 months of work powered mostly by horses and steam engines. A series of Ralph Fanning watercolors depicting the stadium construction is on display in Alumni House in the Center for Tomorrow, on Olentangy River Road, just across the river and north of the stadium. Stop by after the game.

■ The Ohio State University was founded as The Ohio Agricultural and Mechanical College in 1870 as a land grant college. The first class was composed of six men. Today the University has grown to well over 45,000 students in Columbus, one of the largest schools in the nation.

■ Woody Hayes has won more games and Big Ten titles (seven) than any other coach in the Conference since he came to Ohio State in 1951. At the beginning of the 1971 season, his record stood at 134 wins, 43 losses and seven ties.

■ The Ohio State Alumni Association coordinates an active alumni club program in many areas across the state and nation—probably with a chapter in your area. They'd like to get to know you.

■ Ohio State has had 52 All-Americans in 81 years of football, the first being Chic Harley and Bob Karch in 1916.

■ Some 9,000 Alumni Association members have become life members, assuring them membership benefits indefinitely without annual dues payments. Easy quarterly payments can be arranged.

■ Carroll C. Widdoes has the best won-lost percentage of the 19 coaches who have held the head football post at Ohio State. In his two seasons at Ohio State, 1944 and 1945, Widdoes won 16 and lost 2 for an .889 average.

Warren A. Wandling
Agency Manager - Columbus

Building an organization is much like building a football team. You secure key personnel and use good coaching and concentrate on the fundamentals of the game, progress will appear and championship form can be attained.

Here, in our agency, we have key personnel who have done a great job of recruiting quality people. Pictured on this page are some of the key personnel who do an excellent job of coaching and guiding our trainees into becoming successful, established career life underwriters. An opportunity with the Equitable can offer you lifetime security, unprecedented freedom and much responsibility. If you are a person who has a competitive background, has been serious about success and truly desires an opportunity—not a job—why not call Warren A. Wandling or one of the other agency coaches of the Wandling Agency.

Chevrolet. Building a better way to see the U.S.A.

Our Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe at Portland Head Light, Maine.

Chevelle for 1972. It fits more families, more budgets, more garages and more vacations.

It fits so well that in the last eight years it has become an American standard—a yardstick to measure how far your money can go. And how much comfort and room your money can buy.

Our Chevelle fits families so well, in size and price, it's become America's favorite mid-size car. This year we've added improved pollution controls and a long lasting generator, among other things. Improvements with a purpose. We want your 1972 Chevelle to be the best car you ever owned. It's our way of building a better way to see the U.S.A.

BUCKEYE CAGERS PREPARE FOR NEW SEASON

Ohio State University's basketball team, which surprised a lot of people last year by winning the Big Ten title and defeating Marquette in the Mid-East Regionals, is preparing for another campaign—and hopefully another conference crown.

Fred Taylor is beginning his 14th year as head coach and he has seven league crowns, one national title, two runnersup and a third place finish to his credit. He was College Coach of the Year in both 1961 and '62. His winning percentage is 71.7, based on 236 victories and 93 losses.

Last year's team had a record of 20-6 and a Big Ten mark of 13-1. The team averaged 81 points per game and held opponents to 73.9. It had the unusual distinction of winning all seven Big Ten road games and entered the regionals with a 10-game winning streak—all against conference opponents.

Graduated all-American Jim Cleamons leaves a large gap to fill. Called by Coach Taylor one of the most complete players in Ohio State history, Cleamons was noted for floor leadership as well as his offensive and defensive abilities. He scored 418 points for the Buckeyes last season.

Regulars returning include guard Allan Hornyak; center Luke Witte and forwards Mark Minor and Mark Wagar. Two other lettermen available are Bob Siekmann and Dave Merchant. Minor is a senior along with Mike Painter, John Petty and Gary Kiracofe. Junior Gregg Testerman also is back.

Capable sophomores are expected to provide strong bench strength, possibly the best in several seasons.

These include Bennie Allison, 6-0, Youngstown; Dan Gerhard, 6-3, Dayton; Wardell Jackson, 6-7, Toledo; Chris Reinhardt, 6-5, Elyria; Gary Repella, 6-3, Steubenville and Jack Wolfe, 6-6, Columbus.

One of the features on the road will be the Bruin Classic at Los Angeles Dec. 29-30. Ohio State will meet Arizona in the first round. Other competing teams are Texas and UCLA.

The touring Australian All-Stars will be met in St. John Arena Nov. 26 and then the remaining home schedule will be—

Members of the 1926 Ohio State football team are holding their 45th reunion this week-end with get-togethers Friday night at University Golf Club and Saturday night at the Center For Tomorrow.

This team, captained by Marty Karow, Buckeye baseball coach, attracted some of the largest crowds in the first 25 years of the stadium. Coached by the late Dr. John W. Wilce, the squad lost only one game—to Michigan—by one point, 17 to 16.

The team finished third in the Big Ten behind Michigan and Northwestern, which tied for first with 5-0 records. This was the best Ohio State finish since a second place tie in 1921.

The team played eight games, blanking Wittenberg and Ohio Wesleyan by respective scores of 40 to 0 and 47 to 0 before going to New York to defeat Columbia 32 to 7.

Iowa was defeated 23 to 6 and Chicago was upset 18 to 0. Little Wilmington College gave the Buckeyes a good battle before losing 13 to 7.

The Michigan game followed and the Bucks were leading early in the first half, 10 to 0. After the Wolverines scored. Bennie Friedman, all-American quarterback, placekicked a 42 yard field goal shortly before half-time which tied the count at 10 to 10. Michigan went ahead 17 to 10 but the extra point was missed after Ohio State's rallying touchdown.

The situation was reversed the following week in the final game of the season when Illinois was defeated at Champaign, 7 to 6.

Varsity letters were awarded to 21 players, while 16 were given an OAA, equivalent to a junior varsity award.
